

Strong Enough To Let Go

Was it the moonlight on that hot august night or the heavens shining through the trees was it the rhythm of the song the crickets sing was it you was it me was it everything when was the moment that we fell in love did it happen at first sight or did it take a little time for it to grow was it the touch was it the kiss was it everything young hearts dream so wild and free I got fate to thank for you and me Fearless love lets you loose control makes us strong enough to let go we found our place in the grand design not scared to jump right into life new lovers got the faith to take that leap we got past, we got forever, we got everything
